

COMMUNITY H. S. FOR THREE DISTRICTS IN NACHUSA CONSIDERED

Active Campaign for Con- summation of Plan is Under Way.

Current's hall at Nachusa accommodated a capacity assembly last evening when three rural school districts were represented at a meeting called for the purpose of discussing the advisability of forming a community consolidated school. The hall was crowded with people who are interested in the subject and several expressed their views, some favoring and others having objections against the movement.

County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller was present and spoke, giving the tax payers a review of the state school laws governing the action which is contemplated. The parties who are interested in the movement are circulating petitions in the three school districts for signatures, which will then be presented to the superintendent petitioning him to call an election to determine the wishes of the people.

To Canvas Districts.
Directors of the three districts, patrons of the schools and Rev. Gilmer, pastor of the Nachusa church, were heard. The general sentiment seemed to favor ascertaining the wishes of the people in an election before proceeding further. The movement, if carried out would result in the consolidation of the Nachusa, Emmert and Collins Dysart district schools into a community consolidated school, looking forward to the establishment of a two year high school course at present.

NEW SCHOOL IN VIOLA.
The patrons of school district No. 117 in Viola township have authorized the board of directors to build a new school house to replace an obsolete type of one room building now in use. The plans include a completely modern building and it is probable that the initial steps on the new structure will be taken this summer.

TELEGRAPH INSTALLS FINEST PRESS ROOM EQUIPMENT; CAN PRINT 16 PAGES—HIGH SPEED

The Evening Telegraph makes an announcement today which, with the exception of the purchase and consolidation of the Dixon Leader last March, marks the most important improvement and development in the Dixon newspaper field since the founding of The Telegraph in 1851.

We have installed in this office a sixteen page Goss rotary press and complete equipment, which doubles the capacity of our press room and quadruples the speed with which The Evening Telegraph can be sent out to its readers.

For the past fifteen years and up until the present time The Telegraph has been printed on an eight page Duplex press which had a capacity of 5000 per hour. When this machine was purchased by The Telegraph it was believed that it would fill the needs of Dixon newspaper work for many decades. It was the finest press for a city Dixon's size that money could buy and the old press, which has been sold and will be removed, is still in perfect condition and will give useful service for another score of years or more to its new owner.

But good service to Evening Telegraph readers and advertisers demanded more speed in printing and more space for news and advertisements. This condition was greatly aggravated by the consolidation of the Dixon newspapers and The Telegraph, on that occasion, immediately saw the need for better service to the community and in March 1919 the order for the new machinery was placed, although the delivery and erection of the equipment was subjected to many delays.

Prints Eight Column Paper.

The Telegraph's new press prints eight columns to a page, instead of seven as did the old machine, and therefore in an eight page issue the readers will get eight columns more or one extra page. The press will print from one to sixteen pages, all folded in one book. It can be operated at a speed of 24,000 per hour, although it will be run at a lower speed unless occasion demands.

The Telegraph is now printed from stereotype plates and the original type cuts, etc., of which the paper is made up, do not go to the press at all. After the forms are locked up, on individual steel tables, they are rolled to the matrix roller, a sheet of matrix paper the size of a page placed over them, and the heavy machine rolls the thick paper over the form and in one operation the face of the type is cut or formed into the damp matrix paper. The type form and its covering of matrix paper are then shoved into the double steam table and the intense heat quickly bakes the matrix, which is removed and the type form is sent back to the composing room, its mission accomplished. The sheet of matrix paper, stiff and dry, is then placed in a semi-cylindrical casting box, into which is pumped molten stereotype metal from a large metal pot containing a ton and a half of metal. The metal solidifies instantly, due to its makeup and the water cooled mould of the casting box, and the stereotype removes the big plate which is an exact duplicate of the original type form except that it is curved instead of flat.

This plate then goes to the "tail cutter," a machine with saws at both ends which smooths up the ends of the plate. From the "tail cutter" the plate goes to the "chaser" which traces up the inner side of the half cylinder so that it will fit the press. The plates are then ready for the press, are locked on cylinders and the press is ready to start. After the plates are used they are melted and the metal is used over again. When printing more than eight pages the press feeds from two rolls of paper at once.

Is Finest Equipment
With the new press and stereotype equipment The Telegraph has a press room which is equaled only in the larger cities of the country and we know of no city in Dixon's class boasts a newspaper equipment equal to The Telegraph's.

Cares For Future Growth

It is not only with the idea of giving this community the best possible newspaper service and keeping up with modern times that The Telegraph has made this investment, but with the wish to keep ahead of Dixon's growth, to be prepared to always lead and to anticipate the future development of Dixon—which we feel is bound to come if Dixon people work harmoniously and continuously for a greater Dixon.

Paper Only Problem

The unfortunate print paper situation which has made paper almost impossible to secure and at a price that is almost prohibitive, does not work in well with the Telegraph's ambition to make a larger, better newspaper and until the present paper shortage conditions are considerably relieved editions of The Telegraph will have to be limited as much as is possible and confined to as small a number of pages as possible. We believe our readers are sufficiently informed on this subject to realize that it is only through the strictest economy in the use of paper that newspapers will be able to keep up continuous publication, if at all.

However, we wish to again call your attention to the fact that in an eight page paper, Telegraph readers are now getting eight extra columns, or one page more than formerly.

When the replaced machinery has been removed and the confusion of work cleared away, The Telegraph will be pleased to invite the public in to see the new equipment in operation.

MANY NEW FEATURES APPEAR DAILY IN THE TELEGRAPH—NEA JOINS STAFF OF THIS PAPER

The Evening Telegraph wishes to announce with this issue the purchase of a membership in the Newspaper Enterprise Association and the employment by this paper, for the benefit of our readers, of its great staff of artists, special news gatherers, writers, cartoonists, correspondents, etc.

This is a step that, in keeping with the Evening Telegraph's program of a bigger and better newspaper, better service to our readers and fulfillment of our promise to fill newspaper needs in Dixon, has been contemplated for many months but of necessity was delayed until the installation of our new press and stereotype equipment, which is announced in another column today, could give us more space.

Look through today's Telegraph and become acquainted with the many features that will be regular visitors in your home.

You will find departments of interest to the grown-up men and women and the little folks as well. There will be editorial features, women's features, sport features, children's features, comics, cartoons, illustrations and special news stories from all corners of the globe.

Our old friend Jiggs in "Bringing Up Father" will have company and competition from now on. We do not think the old fellow will lose any of his legion of admirers, but "Otto Auto," "Freckles and His Friends," "The Doings of the Duffs," the outbursts of Everett True, and the ravings of "O. U. Bush-er" are going to keep Jiggs busy to maintain his prestige.

You are going to like Edmund Vance Cooke's daily poem. Your youngsters won't "climb the wooden hill" to bed at night until you have taken them on your lap and read "Adventures of the Twins" to them.

The ladies will come to depend on "Sister Mary's Kitchen" department, another daily feature, for tomorrow's menu, and the men to, should be interested in Sister Mary because she will wield a powerful influence in the kitchen and they can tell by the evening paper what they are going to have to eat the next day. It should be as accurate a forecast as the weather, anyway.

"The Boys in the Other Car" ought to furnish a daily chuckle. Grove is a clever cartoonist, and Saterfield's cartoons will carry a daily punch.

"Confessions of a Bride" should hold the interest of men and women readers. You'll get your health tips from "Uncle Sam, M. D." and "Such Is Life" will be another treat for you.

But the best way for you to learn about these many additions to The Evening Telegraph editorial staff is to turn over the pages and inspect the new offerings.

Daniels Takes Issue with Bryan Over Wet Candidates Banquet

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Jan. 23.—Secretary Daniels today took issue with William Jennings Bryan, who has stated in public addresses that Chairman Cummings of the Democratic National Committee, either should disassociate himself from Governor Edwards of New Jersey, who was elected on a "wet" platform, or resign the national committee chairmanship. Mr. Cummings attended the governor's inaugural dinner at which an Edwards presidential nomination boom was launched, and in reply to Mr. Bryan, said he was present only as a "neutral."

Mr. Daniels said he had read Governor Edwards' platform with a great deal of interest and had found "at least ninety percent of it excellent and agreeing thoroughly with the best principles of democratic statesmen." Naturally, the secretary said, he could not agree with Mr. Edwards on the prohibition question, but this point should not be allowed to overshadow the great good in the remainder of the governor's platform.

"I believe," continued the secretary, "that Mr. Cummings acted with perfect propriety in accepting an invitation to a dinner given to a democratic leader. If I were national chairman I would not hesitate to attend such a dinner. Mr. Cummings undoubtedly would have accepted if the dinner had been to Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Palmer, Mr. Hoover or any other noted democrat."

Naval Planes Appealed to to Carry Food to Ship's Crew.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Jan. 23.—Fearing the steamer, Sydney O. Neff, 350 tons, imprisoned in the ice floes six miles off Chicago harbor, was about to be crushed by the ice pack, coast guards today appealed to the navy department to send a hydro-airplane to the rescue of the eighteen sailors aboard.

Commander Wilson, in charge of the aviation section at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, reported he was unable to launch an airship because the flying ship was filled with ice and no open water was available to make the start.

It would be almost impossible to fly over the lake in the face of the northeast blizzard now blowing, Commander Wilson said.

Two tugs are waiting to go to the relief of the sailors, but shipping men say it would be suicidal to buck the ice jam as long as the present east wind continues.

Weather Brought Higher Corn Mark

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Jan. 23.—Bullish sentiment revived in the corn market today helped by gossip that the stoppage of eastbound grain shipments would last for only a short time. Besides, sellers were handicapped by the absence of any immediate prospect of increased receipts. Demand, however, lacked volume. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's, finished at 1/4 cent higher, with May 1 3/8 to 1 3/4 and July 1 1/8 to 1 1/4, were followed by moderate turns all around.

Oats hardened with corn. After opening unchanged to 1/4 cent, including May at 5 1/2 to 5 3/4, the market scored a fair advance.

Provisions were lower in sympathy with hog values. Lard led the decline.

Stormy weather and forecasts of a cold wave brought about additional upturns in the later trading. Prices closed strong, 1 1/4 to 2 1/4 cent higher, with May 1 3/8 to 1 3/4 and July 1 1/8 to 1 1/4.

AMUSEMENTS

LISTEN LESTER TOMORROW

"Listen Lester," John Cort's musical comedy success with the entire New York cast direct from a twelve months' engagement at the Knickerbocker theatre in New York and twelve weeks at the Illinois Theatre in Chicago comes to the Dixon opera house tomorrow night. The story of "Listen Lester" is full of spirit of youthful actors, love-making and funny situations.

"Waiting for You," "When the Shadows Fall," "Feather Your Nest," "I'd Love To," are only a few of the many song hits in this musical offering and will be whistled for many months to come.

ALL NEXT WEEK

The plays for the Frank Winninger Comedy Company engagement are all of the royalty value. "Mile a Minute Kendall" had a long run in New York City. "The High Cost of Living" was originally used by Lew Fields, and afterwards by Kolb & Dill. It is now controlled by Frank Winninger for this territory. "Sauce for the Goose," was originally played in dramatic form by Grace George, and later it was done in pictures by Constance Talmadge. Jane Allyn Winninger, will play the part of Kitty Constant, and which affords her an opportunity to display some nice gowns. She has about five different changes during the action of the play and in all "Sauce for the Goose," is what is considered from a theatrical standpoint a dressy bill. The play is of a special interest to the women. The repertoire also includes Edgar Selwyn's famous comedy of American life in "Rolling Stones," "Mary's Ankle," "An Innocent Impostor," "An Unknown Voice," and "Some Baby," are some of the other plays that will be presented. The Winninger Company will appear in Dixon all next week.

Find Rice Guilty
of Theft of $721

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Jan. 23.—George Graham Rice, stock broker charged with the theft of $721 sent him by Rudolph W. Hartman of Mansfield, Ohio, for purchase of securities and who testified that he had done a business of $35,000,000 in the last two years, was found guilty of grand larceny in the first degree by a jury here today. He will be sentenced next Thursday. The maximum term he may receive is ten years in state prison.

Rice testified during his trial that his real name was Jacob Herzog and that he had a prison record beginning with a term served for larceny upon charges preferred by his father. He had reformed, he said, and built up his brokerage business by honorable methods. He claimed the money he was charged with stealing had been "lost" in his office, explaining that he personally never handled matters involving less than $40,000.

There are half-a dozen indictments against Rice.

CLASS MEETING—

The "Loyal Glens" class of the Brethren Sunday school held a class meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Forney, west of town, who are members of the class but are soon moving to Michigan. Including children of the class members, about forty-five were present. The officers chosen for the ensuing year are:

President—Chas. Boyd.
Vice President—Mrs. T. E. Hults.
Secretary—Allison Reisinger.

The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pickles, salad, cake and coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Forney were presented with a set of beautiful silver tea spoons as a little token of remembrance. After singing, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and prayer by the teacher, Rev. D. A. Rowland, the crowd departed wishing the Forney family success in their new home.

PASTIME CLUB ENTERTAINED—

Mrs. George Newton entertained the Pastime club most enjoyably on Wednesday afternoon. # Sister Mary's KITCHEN

In the kitchen of her own home Sister Mary cooks daily for a chemistry of cooking, gained from study of domestic science in a state university. Consequently the advice she offers is a happy combination of theory and practice. Every recipe she gives is her own, first tried out and served at her family table.

(Copyright, 1920, N. E. A.)

Often the baking dish sticks to such an extent that one gives up in despair and resorts to the next dish washing. As I dislike an article standing in the sink, I've experimented until I've found this way to prevent it:

Dip the stuck-up dish into the dishwasher, turn it upside down on a flat, smooth surface and by the time you are ready to do the cooking things it will wash as easily as any.

There seems to be a sort of vacuum formed by inverting the pan or bowl or casserole or whatever the utensil is, that loosens the clinging food particles in a marvelously short time.

MENU FOR TOMORROW

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal with top milk, pop-overs, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Luncheon eggs, scones, preserves, tea.

DINNER—Cream of celery soup, veal cutlets, French fried potatoes, stuffed cabbage, apple sauce cake, canned cherries, coffee.

MY OWN RECIPES

A cabbage should be chosen by its weight. There are many ways of dressing up this somewhat common vegetable to make it truly delectable. It is known as first cousin to cauliflower and if carefully served is just as good. And so much humbler in price!

LUNCHEON EGGS

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons grated cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
3 eggs.

Make a sauce of the butter, flour, milk and cheese and season with salt and paprika. Pour half of it into a well buttered, shallow baking dish. Break over this the eggs and cover with the rest of the sauce. Sprinkle with a little cheese and bake in a quick oven until eggs are set.

SCONES

3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Both truth and poetry:
"The onion is a homely plant, and rank as most that grows;
"And yet it beats to mix with soup the lily or the rose."

So Human It amazed all Dixon

SOME of your friends must have been in the huge audience which heard Betsy Lane Shepherd in her Tone-Test recital at the opera house November 22. Ask these people about it. This is the astonishing discovery they made:

*The keenest musical ear can not distinguish any difference between the voice of the living artist and the RE-CREATION of that voice by the New Edison.**

And does it not amaze you, too, that Mr. Edison has succeeded in producing an instrument that captures every subtle sweetness of the human voice—that gives you all the ear can give you of the art of the world's great artists. No other phonograph dares to make this direct comparison.

$200,000 SPENT IN DIXON LAST YEAR IMPROVING CITY PROPERTY

Exclusive of Costly Improvements at Two Factories.

Exclusive of additions and improvements, started last year and now under course of construction, at the Universal Oats company's plant and the Grand Detour Plow Works division of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company, about $200,000 were spent in improvements in Dixon last year—the first year of reconstruction.

Nineteen hundred and nineteen, the first year after the war, with exceptionally high prices for material and the biggest wages for mechanics in many years, was considered an "off year" in building circles, but the depression was not evident in Dixon, for local contractors and builders were kept comfortably busy throughout the entire year.

Nineteen hundred and twenty, the extensive work being done at the two big Demetown manufactories, promises to be a banner year. It is understood that many new houses are under contemplation, and it is probable some improvements will be made the business districts.

Among the improvements made during 1919 were:

SENATE KILLS WALSH'S MOVE TO HURT SIMS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
The senate today rejected 33 to 30 today an effort by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, to call up his resolution proposing to censure Rear Admiral William S. Sims for disclosure of information of a "confidential character" in connection with his appearance before the sub-committee investigating naval decoration awards. There was no debate and the vote was on strict party lines.

Previously the senate had refused, 31 to 31, with Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, voting with the democrats to take up the request of the investigating committee for authority to employ counsel, offered by Chas. H. Hale, republican, Maine, of the committee.

Both resolutions now go to the calendar and a majority vote is required to bring either before the senate again.

END THE WAR.

The United States is the only great power still in the World War.

All the other big nations once arrayed against Germany has exchanged ratifications of the peace treaty with their one-time enemy and for them—Germans, too—the World War has ended.

But not for the United States of America! For weeks and months now the United States Senate has mulled over the peace treaty. It has talked. It has debated. It has played politics. It has done everything but tackle the peace treaty in real earnest, with an honest desire to serve the best interests of the American people and their neighbors throughout the world. Altogether too much time and effort has been given to this senatorial jockeying.

Other nations, Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy, Belgium today embark upon the path of peace. They resume diplomatic and business relations with Germany. Their people know where they stand, and business in those countries can go ahead, without any misgivings, without any fear that their governments will kick a hole in their carefully laid plans of commercial intercourse with each other and with Germany.

Our Senate handicaps American business and when it handicaps business in this way it halts the progress of American labor, too. It slows up national advance when it blocks international trade. It tells the manufacturer, the exporter, the financier, the workman to sit down and wait while it putters over reservations mild, and reservations not so mild and more particularly while the "bitter-enders" wrangle to the bitter end. In the meanwhile British, French, Japanese business has an open door to the storehouse of international trade.

Let us end the war. Let us get out of the peace treaty politics. The American people are not in a mood to spend more time watching a handful of senators "fight it out to the bitter end." The American people want to get out of the war. They want the "bitter-enders" to end their senatorial warfare.

The American people want the peace treaty ratified—NOW! Let there be compromises by both factions of "bitter-enders." Let Lodge and Borah recede from their kill-the-treaty position; let the administration senators abandon their no-reservations attitude. That'll bring them nearer each other, and nearer the people. Clearly the majority of Americans favor a peace treaty compromise. They want the League of Nations so badly that they are eager to accept it with any reservations which do not destroy the league's usefulness, and which will permit future efforts intended to perfect the league's purpose, and its machinery for attaining that purpose.

End the war, and catch up with the rest of the world!

IMPROVING TELEPHONY.

Persons who have suffered from flaws in modern telephone service may not be surprised to learn that several conversations may soon be carried on simultaneously along one wire. This will not mean faulty connection, crossed wires or other trouble-making incidents. It promises increased efficiency.

The improvement is being worked out by a signal officer of the United States army. He had commenced work on his invention before he was interrupted by the war. His invention makes use of both wireless and wire methods of transmission. The current will follow the wire instead of passing through it. It is a special kind of current, the production of which in the U. S. has always been too expensive for practical commercial use. Its production-cost has now been made reasonable, it is said, and it is hoped that one wire from

New York to San Francisco will soon be ready to carry ten conversations at once without resulting in confusion to the parties speaking.

The saving of expense and of time on long distance lines is of obvious utility. Although it seems very much like magic, most people have become so accustomed to the marvels of modern scientific development that they will accept this new improvement with no effort at all.

MANY MINDS.

Shakespeare's original manuscripts never were found. Who destroyed them? Shakespeare!

Gordon Craig, international authority on art of the theater, makes that answer in his new book, "The Theater Advancing."

Craig's theory solves an old mystery. That is how one man could have had a knowledge so broad and many sided. The whole series of dramas seems too colossal for one man to have created.

One man didn't; many did it, says Craig. Shakespeare, he thinks, sketched out the plays. Then, much of the dialog was improvised by the whole company of actors at rehearsals. They also created many of the characters. The original manuscript became a mass of corrections, additions and cuts, says Craig.

The master dramatist took this achievement of many minds, and placed the mark of his genius on it when he polished the acting version of the plays for publication. Each play was his own. But many had a part in creating it.

Craig's explanation is convincing. The automobile we say today is the creation of many minds, each helping to develop the modern motor car from the first crude horseless carriage. So it is with all the other wonders of modern achievement.

Our common impulse is to acclaim the one man to whom the greatest credit for any achievement seems due. But the achievement of any single mind never equals the achievement of many minds directed efficiently to one common end.

AS PEACE FINDS HIM

START READING "CONFESSIONS OF A BRIDE" TODAY, THEN GO ON

Begin with This Synopsis of What Went on Before—Then Go On with the Story. You'll Find It Interesting.

Jane Lorimer, a just-ordinary American girl, realizes in her own experience, many of the fantastic dreams of adventure in which even very demure young women often indulge.

She was brought up in a small town the daughter of the president of a country college, and by inheritance and education she possessed the energy, common sense and resourcefulness of the average well-educated American girl.

Jane became the war-bride of Bob Lorimer, son of a millionaire munitions maker, and she passed the period of her husband's military service in a swirl of startling adventures. Captured by a crew of a U-boat, and held prisoner beneath the sea, she shot an officer, saved a United States troopship from destruction, and was rescued by Dr. Hamilton Ceretels, her father-in-law's best friend, and once upon a time, a suitor for her own hand. In this episode, Jane came upon the first hint that Ceretels is an accomplished international spy.

In another adventure, Jane Lorimer lost her identity and was immersed in an insane asylum. She escaped in disguise, and found that by a weird trick of shell shock, her husband, returned from the war, had forgotten that he had even been married!

But Jane believed that for each woman there is but one mate and for each man but one woman, and she connived with her husband's parents to keep her disguise and awaken her husband's love anew. The scheme came to a happy conclusion but only after Bob, in his half-demented state had fallen under the charm of an unscrupulous beauty, Katherine Miller.

Just as Jane's adventures seemed to end in her new life as a bride, the spy, Ceretels, appeared. He went down into the sea in a diver's suit, to retrieve a hoard of gems for his unborn bride, Christobel, Bob's twin sister. Jane Lorimer had information that the U-boat in which the gems were stored was protected by explosives and she tried to save Ceretels. She believed that she recognized him before he descended the ladder. Later she discovered many evidences of his resurrection, and she almost concluded that by wearing the sub-sea suit which he had himself invented, Ceretels had walked the ocean bed—to the shore! Her opinion is reinforced by the latest episode in her career.

The Lorimers have an adopted child—the illegitimate daughter of a son who was crushed in the air service. Jane alone knows that the baby's mother is the tawny beauty, her rival, who secretly plots to entangle Bob, and in whom Bob, in spite of himself, is interested.

Miss Miller knows that while Bob was abroad, his wife had lived for weeks in the house of the physician, Hamilton Ceretels. And Miss Miller twists this knowledge to destroy Bob's affection for his wife. To hurt Jane still further, she steals the child and sends it to Mexico, with the assistance of her butler, a spy who is still engaged in spreading German propaganda.

Jane trails the child, finds it in a Mexican hacienda, owned by a mysterious person of Spanish ancestry. Her unique method of rescuing the baby by airship, the strange clues she adds to her Ceretels collection, and the new ordeal between love and jealousy which confronts her, are told in the chapters published this week.

CURRENT COMMENT. THE EMANCIPATION OF THE FARMER.

Motor driven vehicles are coming into such wide use upon the farm that the Michigan Agricultural College is preparing to open courses of instruction in the operation and repair of tractors and trucks. Students preparing to win a living from the soil will find the courses of the utmost importance. Agriculture is but beginning to emerge from the thralldom of manual labor and is entering the era in which applied mechanics will reign. Until a few decades ago farming had undergone comparatively little improvement in its methods. The century ahead will see the earth bloom as never before through the application of scientific methods and power and labor saving devices. The truck and tractor will work as great a transformation on the farm as did the reaper and mower and binder.

BOLSHEVISM IN MEXICO.

Incredulity is moved with uncertainty when we are told that federal agents have evidence that Carranza government officials are countenancing a plan to establish a bolshevist regime in Mexico.

Skeptical springs from knowledge that the Carranza regime in Mexico is the most autocratic government, the most finished expression of despotism and absolutism that holds sway in the Western Hemisphere. The oppression and exploitation of the poor and not his elevation to power is the cardinal principle of the Carranza system.

Indifference arises because America is convinced that no form of government—even bolshevism—could do a more thorough job of misgoverning Mexico or show a more hateful contempt for the United States than that which now holds power south of the Rio Grande.

Aztecs built irrigation canals 50 years before Columbus discovered America.

SUCH IS LIFE

Some of those Reds, we are informed, turned white with fear when told they would be deported to Russia, which they consider a black eye to their movement, and all, continues the reporter, were blue. While most of the Reds are white, there are some black Reds. And in Asia they have some yellow and brown Reds, for thus far not an American redskin name has been found on a Red list.

Former Mayor Harry Litt of Memphis, Tenn., has a cubist ceiling in his bedroom especially intended to amuse one who has nothing else to do but wait for his doctor to call and tell him he's getting along all right.

"When I was ill," Litt explains, "I had to lie on my back for weeks. Nothing but a plain white ceiling to look at. Believe me, I got good and tired of it! When I got well first thing I did was to have the ceiling repainted all colors, dab of red here, yellow there, blue next, and now when I get sick and have to lie in bed I'll have something to look at."

Confessions of a Bride

Copyrighted 1919 by the Newspaper Enterprise Association

(Copyright, 1919, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

After a woman passes the age of twenty-five, she likes to say that she can get along and be perfectly happy without having a man around all of the time. If she is unmarried, she is apt to fling this article of the feminist faith in the face of her wedded friends; if married, she gives her opinion the weight of a new declaration of independence, which of times, it is.

A Woman Likes to Depend Upon Her Husband.

I am sure I should have sympathized with this popular bit of bravado had late permitted me to follow a humdrum career, but my extraordinary adventures had taught me that woman is happiest as a clinging vine, no matter how self-sufficient she may pretend to be.

Whenever I get my affairs tangled up in an awful mess I want my husband to come immediately and straighten them out for me.

No sooner did I find myself approaching the climax of the Mexican affair than I realized how weak and worthless I was, and wanted to remain!

Bob, I hoped, was on his way to join me and to take over my burdens. He had been detained by his father, ostensibly to wait for important papers concerning the mines, but in reality to keep him from traveling on the train with Katherine Miller.

I grew sick whenever I imagined what might have happened to that unfortunate girl. To be sure, she had a big market value—she was good for an enormous ransom—and if she had been clever enough to impress this fact upon her captors, she would have been spared a terrible fate.

Morrison assured me that the rings she wore were a grand advertisement of her wealth, and one which the bandits would recognize and bank on. He argued that she would exist in perfect safety—and vast discomfort—until her money value was ascertained.

The detective's theory was comforting—and I needed comfort. No matter what the girl's character, and in spite of all my reasons for abhorring her, I realized that she had fallen into an awful predicament as the result of Daddy's brand of diplomacy. It was up to the Lorimers to rescue Katherine Miller.

Nothing could be done until Babs was safely north of the Rio, nevertheless, Morrison shaped and discarded a score of plans for searching for Miss Miller. By means of his telegraph code, which seemed to cover only the coffee business, he kept Daddy Lorimer in touch with the situation. And he called upon some of his professional friends to meet him at the nearest border town. The bunch would hustle, he said, for rescuing a lovely young girl from bandits was their favorite game!

Morrison ended by insisting that Bob would be waiting for me on the edge of our good old U. S. He insisted in spite of the fact that we never got a single answer to the wires he had sent. We would just have to worry along without answers, he said, and be glad his own messages went over the line before that crook at the station got onto our code. We discussed the pros and cons of our situation as we sat by the fountain in the patio of the hacienda. To decide the numerous loungers in the place, we laughed gayly as if we were joking. I trusted that I was proving a successful actress.

Perhaps I laughed a bit hysterically. I couldn't see how I was going to get away with Baby Babs and I was confronting a most unexpected ordeal—the oldest a bride ever faced.

I was destined to see my husband join Morrison's searching party! I must see Bob go forth to save a lovely damsel from a dragon's cave!

And my too vivid imagination pictured that beautiful lady, with her lovely tresses streaming behind her, as she rushed into the arms of the valiant knight who had come to rescue her!

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS by Olive Roberts Barton

SAMANTHA FINDS THE SHOES.

Nancy and Nick lost their magic shoes down the inside of a tree one day when they had crawled into an old woodpecker's hole. The bottom fell out taking their shoes along and there they were in an awful fix.

"My goodness! All this rubbish and me just through cleaning!" scolded Samantha Squirrel below. "What'd you say you dropped?"

"Our shoes!" answered the twins. "Did you find them yet? We need them to get back to our right size."

"No, I'm feeling around though. Dark as a dungeon down here. What-ever brought you to such a place anyway?"

"We were hunting for our lost monkey. We thought he was here, perhaps."

"No monkeys in these woods," answered Samantha. "Say, how many shoes were there? How many feet have you got?"

"Four!" giggled the twins. "Two apiece."

"Well, you rec'd laugh. How do I know how many feet you've got? I told you it's dark and I can't see. Sliders have eight legs, and beetles six, and centipedes a thousand, and worms haven't any. What are you?"

"We're children!"

"Children, eh? Oh, here they are, one, two, three, four. Now to get them up to you."

"Can't you put them all on and climb?" asked Nancy.

"Climb with shoes on? And how do you think my claws can hold on?" No, I've got another way; better than that."

Pretty soon she appeared, but no shoes! At least the twins thought so till she opened her mouth. And there were the shoes, all four. One in her front teeth, one in her mouth, and one in each cheek.

"That's the way I carry nuts!" she laughed. "Four at a time. Now put them on and run along home."

So, thanking the squirrel, they climbed down the tree, wished themselves big again, and feeling to see if the magical mushroom was safe, started home.

Advice to Mothers

Peace of mind is necessary for the nursing mother she should have no worries, she should not get overtired. She should eat freely of her customary diet. The total quantity of fluids taken by her in 24 hours should not be less than two quarts, more in hot weather. Stuffing, however, is unnecessary and undesirable.

Tuberculosis in the mother is practically the only disease that always forbids nursing. Paleiness, nervousness, fatigue, pains in the back and chest, or the return of the monthly sickness are not sufficient reasons for weaning, but when these symptoms are present or pregnancy ensues a physician should be consulted at once. Shortly after birth, boiled water, without sugar, may be given to the baby at regular intervals until the mother's milk supply is established. The breast, however, should be put to the baby at stated times, as often as the mother's condition permits.

Answered

Q. What is the cause of mastoiditis?

A. This usually results from inflamation of the middle ear, that is, behind the ear drum. The condition usually requires to be treated by surgical operation which exposes the bone behind the ear and evacuates the pus which has formed.

Miss Fawn Lippincott gave a 2.75 per cent luncheon today. Noboddy knew Em Moots' youngest girl wuz workin' 'till she begun t' wear a fur coat.

A. Far better than self-treatment with drugs, good health can be maintained by good food, fresh air, outdoor exercise and a proper proportion of rest, recreation and work. If your daughter appears to be ill, take her to a physician and have him see what is wrong. It is most unwise to take nostrums, advertised to cure various ailments.

A Modern Story of Home and Business

GERRY TALKS IT OVER WITH MARY.
CHAPTER 41.

All the morning while attending to my customers I thought of what Aunt Pelicia had said, and of how terribly unjust she had been.

"I never will do anything for anyone as long as I live!" I declared to myself, after I had mentally added up what she had cost me for room and board in the weeks we had entertained her. Yet I had determined to say nothing to Robert of what she had said. I had already told him we had a most unpleasant time; that was all that was necessary.

But I could not easily dismiss it from my mind. And when noon came I told Mary, after asking her to say nothing to Robert.

"I ain't sure the old girl was so far wrong," Mary said after I had finished. "I don't mean Bob would divorce or desert you-she sure put it strong, didn't she? But I guess if you had said good-bye to the shop when you married him he would have won out some way. Men like to think they have married clinging vines you know; and the tighter they cling the better most of them seem to like it. Then you know Gerry, when a man has that kind of a female around, he just has to hustle; there ain't no other way."

"I have made up my mind to one thing, Mary," I had scarcely taken in what she had said, so intent was I upon my grievance.

"What's that?"
"That Robert is not a money-maker and never will be. I am so thankful I can work-can at least make a decent living for us."

"It is fortunate Gerry-if you are right about Robert. But somehow I can't believe he is so stupid. It is perhaps lack of ambish, because you make it unnecessary. I'm sorry, Gerry, you had such a time with the

TURKEY INTENDED TO FIGHT WITH ENTENTE

But Enver Pasha Pulled One Over on Cabinet Forcing Change.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Constantinople, Tuesday, Jan. 20.—Turkey entered the war on Germany's side after the cabinet had decided to join the allies, according to statements before a secret parliamentary committee published by the newspapers. The machinations of the war party, led by Enver Pasha, war minister in 1914, were responsible for the change of front.

When the war broke out, the newspapers say, the majority of the Turkish cabinet was friendly to the entente. The war party, however, began attempts to persuade a sufficient number of ministers that Turkey should acquire the German cruiser, Goeben, to take the place of the ships which had been requisitioned by England. Objection was made that the Goeben, which arrived here in August, 1914, after fleeing from allied warships in the Mediterranean would attack Russian vessels while under Turkish colors, but Enver Pasha declared the commander of the cruiser had pledged himself not to make any such attack.

To Oppose Germany.
Decision was reached by the cabinet to oppose Germany in the war and it was agreed that when Turkey took her stand on the side of the entente the Goeben and her sister ship the Breslau, should be bombarded by the Bosphorus forts. Enver Pasha, however, made secret arrangements with the Germans and the Goeben joined the Black Sea fleet, even the Grand Vizier being kept in ignorance of this move. On August 23, 1914, the Goeben, while flying the Turkish flag, attacked and destroyed two Russian ships. This act brought about Turkey's alignment against the entente, and several members of the cabinet resigned. The facts were misreported by the censors and the Turkish public, even the Sultan, believed for several years that the Russians attacked the Turks.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Editor of The Telegraph:
Americanism—The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have them as little politically connected as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements, let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop. Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have no, or a very remote, relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities.

Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course.

Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, or caprice?

It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world, so far as I mean, as we are now at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of advocating infidelity to existing engagements.

I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs that honesty is always the best policy. I repeat it, therefore, let those engagements be observed in their genuine sense. But in my opinion it is unnecessary and would be unwise to extend them. Taking care to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Search was started today through the city's safety deposit vaults for moneys belonging to the estate of John H. Hewitt, a wealthy eccentric, who died Tuesday, a state charge in the insane asylum at Elgin, where he had gone voluntarily. The value of the estate is estimated at $300,000.

Hewitt was unhappy at home, according to Harry Irwin, his attorney and "wanted to go some place, but was very close with his money." He finally selected the insane asylum. Hewitt was nearly 90 years old. His wife is dead but four children are living.

Merely to Show That They Are Not Sulky

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Jan. 23.—Members of the crew of the German warship Koennigsberg, when drawn up for inspection by a board of inter-allied commissioners at Wilhelmshaven, spontaneously sang "Deutschland, Deutschland, Ueber Alles" and "Die Wacht Am Rhein," according to a Reuters correspondent with the interallied officials. It is said that this demonstration was merely to show that the Germans were not depressed, as naval discipline was apparently good on the ship and in the harbor.

WILLARD IS BACK AT WORK AGAIN

"Flu" Left Him Almost a Physical Wreck But Tanlac Builds Him Up.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was almost a wreck and so weak I could hardly walk but now I have gone back to my work and am in as fine health as I ever was before," was the unusual statement recently made by Edward Willard, 615 Morgan St., Peoria, Ill.

"Last winter I had a severe case of the flu followed by pneumonia, and after I got up they told me I just did manage to pull through," continued Mr. Willard. "I was in a helpless miserable condition, had no appetite, to speak of and what little I did force myself to eat hurt me. I would have terrible cramping spells and gas would form and effect my heart so that I thought it was going to give out on me. I kept growing weaker I was so discouraged I was beginning to wonder where it was all going to end."

"One night my wife was reading in the paper what a man said about Tanlac and I happened to know him as he worked down at Holts, the place where I was working when I contracted the flu. I made up my mind right then and there to try Tanlac and got my wife to go to the drug store and get me some. Well, the very first bottle began to build me up and by the time I had finished half of it I was able to walk down town. In a short time I was back at my work and I took my Tanlac right to work with me and never missed a dose until I took five bottles and knew that I was well, sound and healthy in every respect. I never have a touch of indigestion and no matter what I eat or how much I eat it agrees with me and is giving me strength and energy. I am making more money than ever in my life and sometimes I even work overtime as I am not tired when I get through my days' work."

TANLAC is sold in Dixon by Public Drug & Book Co., in Compton by W. N. Hills, in Franklin Grove by Geo. S. Ives, in Amboy by C. Aschenbrenner Pharmacy, in Ashton by G. R. Charters & Son.

MALTA, "SAVIOR OF WEST," ISLAND OF ROMANTIC HISTORY

British Announcement of Home Rule Recalls Its Vivid Past.

Washington, D. C.—"Perhaps no other by-product of the World War gave the recovery of Jerusalem such an imagination so profoundly as the British announcement of home rule for Malta," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society which explains:

"The Malta island group is a shrine of mythology, and of sacred and profane history. Calypso, vampire of Homer's word motion pictures, rescued the shipwrecked Ulysses, and employed her charms to make him stay on the island. St. Paul swam ashore there after his vessel ran aground. Publius, the island governor, according to Acts XXVIII, received and lodged him, and the apostle founded a Christian community before he departed.

"The date of Christ's birth is but the half way point in Maltese chronology. Since its recorded history began ten nations have held sway over the coveted islands, beginning with the Phoenicians of Paul's time, and running a scale of Greeks, Carthaginians, Romans, Goths, Arabs, Germans, Spaniards, and French, until the present sovereignty of the British.

"It has been said that Malta's local chronicle holds, in microcosm, the history of Europe, and that its archaeological remains mark each step in western civilization.

Savior of the West.

"But Malta was an actor, as well as a library of historic drama. Literally she became the savior of the western world when the Knights of Malta beat back the Turkish hordes during the famous siege of 1565. The alien knights, along with native Maltese, kept the blighting hand of Moslem from crushing the lands which fostered those infant ideals of freedom which now are reflected in England's concession.

"The thrills of that siege and the heroism displayed are unsurpassed. Of the 3,000 Maltese who fought with the knights, practically all were killed. Characteristic of the knights' valor was that of the defenders of Fort St. Elmo. Wounded and desperate, the few survivors of months of fighting went to a small chapel within the fort, embraced each other, received the Eucharist, and prepared to die. The little company was cut off from all assistance, but fought on. Many fell with sword in hand. Fearing they would be exterminated before the assailants were beaten back a Maltese was sent to swim across the harbor by night to inform the Grand Master of the danger. The messenger delivered his message to Garcia by diving and swimming mostly under water.

"Hold the fort or die fighting," was the command he brought back. Every man obeyed—and died. But the consternation wrought by their frenzied resistance worked such havoc among the assailants that the news of it spread to other divisions of the Turkish forces, and turned the tide toward a Maltese victory!

"In command of the Turkish sea forces was Dragut, who rose from cabin boy and galley slave, to be admiral of the Turkish Navy, and was mortally wounded before Malta.

"Scientifically Malta has been well named a 'precious stone set in a silver sea.' Agriculturally it deserves the appellation of New Testament times, Malta, meaning 'the isle of money.' It domiciles some 250,000 people, though it does not entirely support them. Its area is only one-tenth that of Rhode Island, but it has twice the density in population of that most densely populated state in the Union.

In addition to the main island the Malta group consists of Gozo, Comino, with Cominotto, an islet, and Filfla a rock. Imagine Malta Island to be superimposed on the District of Columbia. Then the nearest Italian shores would be no farther away than Richmond is from Baltimore; Sicily would be a little north of Baltimore, the nearest point on the African shore would be at New York City, and Asia Minor would be not far beyond Chicago. This mental diagram shows why Britain regards Malta as the key, and safety lock, of her entire Eastern Empire.

"Napoleon recognized this strategic value by taking Malta on his way to Egypt. But even Bonaparte hesitated at the virtually impregnable, and used traitors instead of force for the capture.

"The work hood, or faldetta, which Maltese women wear to this day, is ascribed in popular legend to their desire to hide their faces because of the infamies of invading soldiers. A characteristic feature of the landscape is the terraced fields. A geographical curiosity is the absence of streams, because water is absorbed by the porous sandstone.

"The present capital and principal seaport of Malta is Valletta, named for the Grand Master of the Knights at the time of the memorable siege. It was literally a 'city built by gentlemen.' It contained the palace of the Chiefs of these Knights, originally the Knights of the Order of St. John, who resorted to Malta after the Turks had captured their stronghold at Rhodes. Both the main island and Gozo contain numerous relics, like those of England's Stonehenge, of the Mediterranean race that antedated the arrival of the Phoenicians."

Are You Sick and Discouraged?

Do you get up in the morning more tired than when you went to bed? Are you nervous, fagged out, irritable and easily exhausted?

These symptoms simply mean that you have not a sufficient supply of iron, oxygen and the natural cell-salts that your blood requires to keep your body strong, vigorous and healthy.

Every disease that afflicts the human body is due to the lack of one or more of the natural cell-salts in the blood. Pain, fever, headache, backache, nervousness, anaemia, dyspepsia, biliousness, chills, dizziness, constipation, etc., are but Nature's warning signals that the cells of some part of your body are starving for the lack of their natural food.

All diseases that are curable are cured in a natural way through the circulation of the blood which is carried by the blood vessels and transudes through the walls of the veins and capillaries into the surrounding tissues. When the blood contains the proper amount of cell-salts and red blood cells, the whole body glows with health and vitality—the eyes sparkle—sleep is refreshing—and you are free from aches and pains.

REOLO combines the cell-salts that the blood must have to nourish the body and keep it well—in a form easily assimilated by the blood.

REOLO absorbs the oxygen from the air in the lungs and carries it into the blood—rapidly increasing the number of red blood cells—and the amount of plasma in the blood, sending through the entire body a stream of rich, vitalizing, health-giving blood that nourishes every cell of the nerves, tissues, brain and bone.

Each package of REOLO contains tablets enough for two weeks' treatment. In ordinary cases the treatment should be continued for six weeks to give the blood a rich supply of oxygen, plasma and the cell-salt solution that builds new cells. The complete six weeks' treatment costs but very little and will in most cases restore normal health and vitality.

In chronic cases of long standing or abnormal conditions due to neglect, excessive nerve strain, overwork or prolonged illness, it naturally requires a longer time for REOLO to reconstruct the diseased cells, tone up the heart and nervous system and make the blood rich in red blood cells and plasma, vitalized with oxygen, iron and the health-renewing cell-salts that restore normal health and vigor.

Start the REOLO Tonic Treatment today and you will be delighted with the steady improvement in your health. The large package contains 100 pleasant, tasteless tablets and only costs $1.

BAD COLD GOT YOU? FEELING GRIPPY?

Dr. King's New Discovery soon starts you on the road to recovery

ONCE tried, always used. That's a true expression, but one never more applicable than it is to Dr. King's New Discovery.

You will like the prompt, business-like way it loosens the phlegm-congested chest, soothes the tortured throat, relieves an old or a new cold, gripple, cough, croup.

The kiddies can take it in perfect safety, too. No bad after-effects. Standard half a century. 60c and $1.20 a bottle. At your druggist.

Don't Continue Constipated

Don't let your bowels bulldoze your system. Make them function regularly—keep the body cleansed of waste matter with Dr. King's New Life Pills.

Biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach, indigestion, dizziness, furred tongue, bad breath—think of the embarrassments and discomforts traceable to constipation. How easily they're rectified by the occasional use of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Move the bowels smoothly but surely. Try them tonight. All druggists—5c. as usual.
